Dear Mr. Cobdra,

Re: Refugees from Chile in Argentina

... Some time ago a former collaborator sent me the enclosed list of Brazilian refugees who came from Chile to Argentina and were looking for resettlement opportunities elsewhere.

I have no addresses of these people, but if you know them could you find out whether they are in Argentina and if still interested in emigration, whether they submitted applications, directly or via ACNUR, to the Embassies of the countries which are indicated on the list? If not, they should do so immediately and state the date of registration on the enclosed Immigration Form which should be carefully completed and returned to Geneva.

This would enable us to make their wish known to our counterparts in these countries and request them to intercede with their Governments on behalf of the refugees. It will not be an easy task since all more desirable countries are overflowing with refugees, but it is worth trying.

Best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
